CHEMICAL NEW YORK PLANS INTERNATIONAL SERVICES FOR CENTER

New York—Chemical Bank New York Trust Company, whose office at 50 Church Street has served the area since 1908, has agreed to lease 30,000 square feet in the new World Trade Center to be built by the Port of New York Authority in Lower Manhattan.

Chairman Harold H. Helm revealed that Chemical New York plans to occupy 20,000 square feet of tower office space on the 54th floor of the 110-story North Tower Building and 10,000 square feet of banking office space in the World Trade Center concourse. The tower space will be used by the bank's large International Division to accommodate its extensive world trade financing activities. Some members of the staffs of Chemical New York's overseas subsidiaries will be located there. These subsidiaries are Chemical International Finance Ltd., Chemical Overseas Finance Corporation and Chemical International Banking Corporation.

The bank's branch office on the World Trade Center Concourse will be equipped and staffed to provide complete local, national and world-wide banking and trust services, Mr. Helm said. "It is expected that many of our customers served by our present office at 50

WORLD TRADE CENTER HIGHLIGHTS

Details of the World Trade Center Plan have been discussed by Port Authority representatives with leading government officials and important businessmen in 11 European countries and 9 principal American cities during the past several weeks. These presentations, part of an intensive sales campaign, are aimed at acquainting members of the world trade community with the trade expansion opportunities to be offered by the Center.

To date, more than 65 per cent of the total of 10 million sq. ft. of rentable space which will be available in the Center is committed, reserved, or in active negotiation. The first phase of the World Trade Center project, including one tower and a portion of the surrounding Plaza Building, will be ready for occupancy on or about July 1, 1968.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk with Port Authority Chairman S. Sloan Colt at presentation in Washington, D.C. of the World Trade Center plans to ambassadors, ministers and other diplomats from 61 nations.

At Boston, on May 26, World Trade Center Director Richard C. Sullivan explains the concept of the Center to Paul Carney (left), Director of the Boston Field Office of the U. S. Department of Commerce, and Ralph Binney, Chairman of the Boston Regional Export Expansion Council and Vice President of the First National Bank of Boston.

A cut-away model of the World Trade Center draws the attention of trade and civic leaders during the April 27 meeting in Rome, Italy. Facing the camera, at left, is the Hon. G. Frederick Reinhardt, American Ambassador to Italy; to the right of the model stand Mr. Henry C. Klingman, Manager of the Port Authority's Trade Development Office at Zürich, and Mr. Guy F. Tozzoli, Director of the World Trade Department, Port of New York Authority.

In Paris, on May 11, the World Trade Center story is presented to leaders of French industry and commerce. At business luncheon above are (l. to r.) Henri Bonnet, former French Ambassador to the United States; Charles E. Bohlen, American Ambassador to France; Port Authority Honorary Chairman Howard S. Cullman; and Francois Bizard, Director of Foreign Commerce Relations, Ministry of Economic Affairs.
